An Honest Dependable Medicine It must be admitted by every fairminded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

Colds, fevers and germ diseases are pretty sure to overwork the kidneys and leave them weak. In convalescence, in fact, at any time when suspicion is aroused by a lame, aching back, rheumatic pains, headaches, disziness or discordered urine, the use of Doan's Elding Pilis is a stitch in time that may avoid serious kidney disease.

TALK ON WESTERN

Facts Don't Lie-Western Canada Is Full of Facts-Here Are Three of Them.

1. C. T. Moore, Underhill, Man. Came from Bruce County, Ontario, 1882, with a capital of $2.00. Homesteaded quarter section. Now owns 2,800 acres for which he paid average of $20.00-worth today $40.00 per acre. 2. James Steel, Battleford, Saskatchewan. Came from Perthshire, Scotland, 1904. His fare advanced to bring himself and family to Canada. Took up homestead, which he sold later $25.00 per acre, buying 1,000 acres at $15.00 per acre. Has been very successful in mixed farming. Values land now at $40.00 per acre, and is worth $60.00. "If I had remained in the Old Country my gray hairs would have been a passport to the poor house," he says.

H. J. Smith, Clover Bar, Alberta. Came from North Michigan, 1893, without capital. Now farming 800 acres, valued at $200 per acre. Purchased originally at $15.00 per acre. Engaged in mixed farming. Cows average him $150.00 a year.

All this talk about the exploitation of labor by capital, class distinction, living wage, high cost of living, and so forth, doesn't hold the slightest interest for the Canadian farmer. Why? Because he has proved that you can't begin too poor to become rich in Canada; that free homesteads preclude the possibility of being robbed of freedom and independence; that the high cost of living can't hurt vice. Your letter will be opened, the man who grows most of his own necessities; that his labor brings reward in exact and just proportion to time and intelligence invested.

If those who whine at urban conditions would give a little time to investigating those suburban, they would likely spy a clear way out of their difficulties. For the first step, drop a card to any Canadian Government Agent.-Advertisement.

For Uncanny Knowingness and Prankish Audacity the Indian Crow Has No Equal,

Travelers in the Orient have much to say about the Indian crow, a bird that for uncanny knowingness and prankish audacity has perhaps no equal. Corvus splendens-thus have ethnologists flatteringly labeled him: but a famous naturalist who knows the breed at first hand has called them "shreds of Satan, cinders from Tartarus" To give these impish creatures their due, however, it should he said that life in India is not a little enlivened by their presence. A Companion correspondent witnessed

That effectually compelled the attention of the hawk His prey firmly grasped beneath his feet, he angrily hissed and lunged at the hovering nulsance. So lively was the skirmish that the human onlooker forgot the existence of the second crow. But now that wily bird reappeared some distance in the rear of his destined victim. With stealthy sidlings and short, noiseless flights, he drew near. Then he made a swift dash, seized the hawk's long, barred tail by the tip, hung on it with his full weight, and toppled the luckless hawk with much triumphant cawing

Reducing Illiteracy.

Only fifteen out of every one thousand children from ten te fourteen years of age in the United States are unable to read and write.

These figures just announced by the federal bureau of education show a striking decrease in child illiteracy during the last fourteen years. In 1900 the number of illiterate children between the ages of ten and fourteen was forty-two in every thousand. In 1910 this number was reduced to twenty-two. Four years have further lowered it to more than 33 1-3 per cent.

Assuming only the latter rate of decrease, twenty years more may see youthful illiteracy in this country almost cease to exist save among newly arrived immigrant families. Nor can the present rate of improvement fall to produce in the same period a marked change in the percentage of illiteracy in the entire population of ten years and over-which in 1910 was 7.7, or seventy-five illiterates for every thousand.
